PREFATORY NOTE

THIS, the twelfth, volume of THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE OF BOOKS, records works published in the United Kingdom during the five years, 1926-1930. During that period, 70,487 works have been published, or over 10,000 more than were published during the previous quinquennium. As each work is catalogued under its author's name, and also under its title and subject where necessary, it is estimated that this volume contains over 145,000 entries.

METHOD OF ARRANGEMENT.

The main entry for each work, supplying full particulars as to author, title, size, price, publisher, month and year of publication, etc., is arranged alphabetically under the author's surname (if known) in heavy type. (The main entry for an anonymous work appears under the first word of its title.)

As an index to these main records, entries are made under the titles of works, commencing with the most important words (which usually indicate the subjects dealt with by the books), or with the first words of titles (usually in the case of fiction and other imaginative works), and frequently under independent subject headings. In these index-entries the names or words printed in italics refer to the main entries under which the full particulars regarding publishers and prices and other bibliographical details will be found. Main and index entries are in one alphabetical sequence, making it easy to find any book of which the author, title, or subject is known.

It should be noted, in using a large alphabetical sequence such as this, that where they are the same in spelling, names of persons precede names of places, things or titles. Thus "London (Jack)" precedes "London and its environs"; and "Power (William)" precedes "Power and purpose." Writers with compound names are entered under the first parts of the names, e.g., "Quiller-Couch (Sir Arthur T.)" with references from the last parts of the names, e.g., "Couch (Sir Arthur T. Quiller-). See Quiller-Couch." Some authors alter the forms of their names, or change their names, and it is difficult to keep track of such variations in a work of reference compiled periodically. It is not unusual, for example, to find that the "J. B. Schmidt" of one year may appear as "Jabez B. Schmidt," or "J. Blank Schmidt" at other times, and even as "Jabez B. Smith." Every effort has been made to collect and link up the works of such authors under the forms of names most likely to be referred to by users of this volume, and references from variants of names have been included freely. The same applies to the transliterated names of foreign authors, a case in point being that of Anton Chekhov, whose name appears on title-pages in such different forms as Chekhov, Chehov, Tchegov, Tchekhoff and Tehekhov. The importance to users of this work of a proper linking up of variations in spelling by means of references will be realised when it is seen that so slight a variation as “Anaesthesia” and “Anesthesia” would separate the entries by six pages.

A note regarding the subject entries may be useful. Books are indexed under the names of the specific subjects with which they deal, and, as far as possible, these subject-names are selected from the actual titles of the books. For example, all books on botanical subjects will not be found collected under the heading “Botany.” Books on botany in general are entered there; but works dealing with special branches of the subject, such as particular plants, etc., will be found under the names of those plants or other divisions of the subject. Reference should also be made to the various names of a subject, such as “Gardening” and “Horticulture,” etc. This method of indexing makes it possible for a book on any special topic to be traced easily and quickly, and at the same time confines the alphabetical sequence to reasonable dimensions.

The system of added subject-entries is of great value to the person seeking books on a particular topic. An author, for example, has published a book about West Africa under the title “The Golden Land.” The work is entered in the usual way under the author’s name and under the title; but it is also entered under the heading of “Africa, West”—with the result that THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE OF BOOKS is the only published work of reference of its kind that enables an enquirer for books on West Africa to find that particular work without prolonged search. There are many thousands of such subject entries in the present volume.

One other note. If a title received verbally is being sought, it must be remembered that names phonetically alike may be widely varied in spelling. Thus the three books “Susie,” by Dowdall; “Susy in the World,” by Seers; and “Suzy falls off,” by Barr, all sound alike—but each Susie is separated alphabetically from her sisters by a page of entries.

OTHER INFORMATION.

The publications of learned Societies are recorded in an Appendix.

The names and addresses of Publishers in the United Kingdom will be found at the end of the volume. The telegraphic and cable addresses and telephone numbers have been added when known.

A BRIEF STATISTICAL ANALYSIS OF BOOKS PUBLISHED DURING 1926-1930.

The following table shows the number of books recorded as having been published during the five years, 1926-1930 :—

				New Books.	New Editions.	Totals.
1926	...	...	...	9,989	2,810	12,799
1927	...	...	...	10,334	3,476	13,810
1928	...	...	...	10,612	3,787	14,399
1929	...	...	...	10,347	3,739	14,086
1930	...	...	...	11,603	3,790	15,393
Totals				52,885	17,602	70,487

During the previous five years, 1921-1925, the total recorded was 60,050, so that the present total shows an increase of 10,437.

The detailed analyses of each year's publishing will be found in the annual volumes of THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE OF BOOKS for the respective years. The combined five years' table included here presents much interesting information in a condensed form, and includes the totals for the previous five-yearly period for comparative purposes.

A word or two of explanation are necessary for the proper understanding of the figures given in the analytical table, particularly if any attempt is made to compare them with those of other countries. The arrangement of the table is according to the classification adopted by the International Congress of Librarians at Brussels in 1910, and this enables British publishing to be compared with that of nearly every other country issuing statistics. The difficulty of such comparison arises out of the different methods of "counting heads." In our table, each complete publication is counted as one, whether it is in one or more volumes. Serials that appear later as a collected volume are counted as an ordinary book on the appearance of that volume. All publications of 48 pages or less are counted as "pamphlets."

A great deal of printed matter does not appear in these tables at all. Newspapers and periodicals (except such of the latter as are issued in volume form) are omitted, as are great numbers of official reports and documents issued by municipalities and other public bodies and institutions, musical texts, and ephemeral pamphlets. All Government publications are not included, because many hundreds of them are merely continuations or business papers that are not publications in the true sense ; but all the important Government publications are included.

The object of the table is to represent the book publishing activity of the British Islands. It would be easy to reach an enormous total by including such literary protozoa as is indicated above, but such a total would cease to represent British book publishing. In some countries such matter is included, and care should be taken to ascertain where this is done before international comparisons are made.

The compulsory registration of publications is not a condition of copyright in the British Isles, and in spite of the large number of books recorded here it is to be expected that some have been omitted. The Editor will be glad to receive particulars of such omissions, or corrections of errors, for inclusion in subsequent volumes. Such information should be addressed to the Editor of the ENGLISH CATALOGUE OF BOOKS, "Publishers' Circular" Office, 56-58, Whitcomb Street, Leicester Square, London, W.C.2.

Hearty thanks are due to the many publishers and booksellers, librarians, secretaries, authors and bibliographers who have assisted in making this record more correct and comprehensive than it would have been otherwise.
